TROUBLE AT EXCHANGE BAR

Mysterious Shooting Scrape
About 9:30 Last Night.

Two Shots Fired by Stranger.
Proprietor Says—Goodwin Beaten Up.

A shooting affray, about which there is considerable mystery occurred about 9:30 last night in the Exchange Bar, on Second street. The police and Deputy Prosecutor Kiplinger have been conducting an investigation but have gained but little headway.

James Barrett, proprietor of the saloon says that a stranger somewhat intoxicated came into the saloon and demanded liquor, which was refused him, although he offered to pay for it. Barrett says the man became abusive, pulled a gun and fired two shots at him but that he seized the gun and took it away from him, at the same time getting his fingers caught in the hammer and preventing another shot being fired. The man was then put out of the saloon by the rear way.

A number of people heard the shots and ran into the saloon. They saw nothing however and came back with the report that shots had been fired but that no one was hurt. Mrs. Philip Olinger who lives across the street from the saloon, however, saw men on the floor of the saloon through the lower part of the screen door.

Policeman Price was standing in the corner of Main and Second streets when the shots were fired. He ran down the street and into the rear. There had been a large pool of blood on the floor but some of it had been washed away. The policeman could get little information that was satisfactory from those in the saloon, and he started an investigation. There was a stream of blood out the back door and into the alley and west through the alley, to Morgan street. A lantern was secured and Prosecutor Kiplinger joined in the investigation.

Prosecutor Kiplinger secured the revolver from Mr. Barrett. It was of a 32 caliber and was loaded with long cartridges tipped with expansion bullets. One shot had been fired, the second had missed fire and a third shell was empty.

By the blood, men tracked the wounded man across Morgan street, and through the yard, at the residence of Gash Ross immediately north of the central fuel company's office. The gate in the rear of the residence of Dr. E. J. Wooden was smeared with blood and there was blood on a doorstep at the side of the Wooden residence. The man was then tracked to the north side of Second street, coming out between the Wooden residence and the Gaffin block. The trail of blood was followed to Pearsey's grocery where it was lost. The manner in which the sidewalk was spotted with blood and the gate smeared with it shows that the man was running and that he leaped over the gate instead of going through it.

This morning Policemen Pea and Price took up the blood stains near Reed's Elevator, on West Second street and followed them to the residence of Lewis Pate, farther down the street. There he learned that John Goodwin, who has been a boarder there and who was employed on Owen L. Carr's new house came running home shortly before 10 o'clock last night. He was badly bruised and cut about the face and over the head, his right arm was badly cut and bruised and he was cut and bruised about the ribs. Mrs. Pate helped wash the man's wounds and put him to bed.

Policemen Pea says that there was considerable blood this morning about the bed where Goodwin slept. Goodwin left town early this morning and has not been located. Mr. Pate says that he could get nothing out of him concerning the trouble.

When Goodwin left his boarding house yesterday evening he had $14 in his pocket. When he came back, bleeding from numerous wounds, he had 15 cents. As far as is known he has never been in trouble before.

GOOD ON QUAIL

Open Winter Was Protection to Them and Farmers are Glad of it.

It is said the open winter gave the quail excellent opportunity to feed and few of them, if any, were starved to death or were frozen. There are many broods all over the county and they have already begun the season's nesting. It is unusually early for the quail to begin nesting, but the farmers declare this is what is happening and some of the farmers who have studied the habits of the quail claim the same birds will hatch two nestings during a single summer when they begin this time of the year.

The quail is becoming the farmer's greatest friend and closer restrictions are being put on the hunting all over the county. At this time of the year especially are the quail of much benefit as gatherers of insects and destructive worms. It is no uncommon sight to see quail follow the farmer as he plows his ground in the spring and as the insects and worm broods are turned by the plow, the birds gather them in a hurry. As they never eat the grain, expecting the seeds of a few destructive weeds, the quail are always welcomed by the owners of the farms.

A BIG CROWD HEARS CONCERT

Program Rendered in the Open
Air by the Rushville Band.

A crowd, that was estimated by various business men today, consisted of from twelve to fifteen hundred people, heard the first open air concert of the season, given last night by the Rushville Concert band, of which Heber H. Allen is director.

The band did not have its full membership out last night and was somewhat handicapped by being compelled to give the concert on the front steps of the court house, where the alcove in the rear, echoed the sounds and drowned out the music. The following program was given: March—"Imperial Boys", Mooreland. Waltzes—"Golden Sunset", Hall. "Burning of Rome", Paul.

Overture—"Poet and Peasant", Van-Suppe. "Happy Heinie", Lampe. Intermezzo Iridienne—"Flying Arrow", Holzmann. Spanish Two Step—"Marcelle", Rosales. Selection—"Woodland", Luters. "A Piece of Rag", Ballou.

GEO. ABERNATHY PAINFULLY HURT

Has Nose Broken While Working at Bentwood This Morning.

George Abernathy, while at work at the Bentwood works, owned by Reynolds & Clifford, on West Ninth street, about 10 o'clock this morning, sustained a broken nose and a deep, one and a half inch cut over the right eye. He was also badly cut and bruised about the mouth. Mr. Abernathy was edging a board and a piece of timber caught in the saw and struck him a terrific blow in the face knocking him down and almost rendering him unconscious. Dr. Wooden, who was called, found it necessary to sew up the wounds.

BIG TRIAL IS NOW ON

Mrs. Grace Kelso, the Plaintiff, is the First Witness.

Tells Story of Short Lived Love Affair—Allegations in the Complaint.

Friday's Connersville Examiner says: "The noted Kelso damage suit for $15,000 in which a mother-in-law is charged with alienating the affections of her son from his wife, is now in full progress in the circuit court. Mrs. Grace Kelso, the plaintiff, was the first witness to take the stand yesterday afternoon after the jury had been sworn, and also nearly all of this morning she occupied the chair. Her testimony was along the line of her connection of the Kelso family in Rush county from the time she entered into the family as a domestic up until the filing of the damage suit against her mother-in-law, Mrs. Eliza Kelso. The story of the case as given in the complaint is to the effect that a love match between the plaintiff, Mrs. Grace Kelso and her husband John Kelso, a son of the defendant, followed a short time after she became engaged as a domestic at the Kelso home and resulted in their marriage in April of 1904. Allegations are further made by the plaintiff that they lived together but a few months after their marriage when the separation followed and for which she charges the mother-in-law being the cause.

Other charges of a rather sensational character are also made by the plaintiff all of which is being introduced in the evidence. The plaintiff, Mrs. Grace Kelso is a pretty brunette about the age of 23 years and is quite an attractive little woman. Her manner on the witness stand has been commented on by many spectators who have attended the trial. She is quick to perceive the nature of a question and readily answers in a clear distinct voice. The plaintiff's mother, Mrs. Robins, was the next witness to take the stand and at 2 o'clock this afternoon Chas Kelso, husband of the defendant, was also examined on various points relative to his property and what he was worth.

RYAN HAD A HILARIOUS TIME

Connersville Examiner Says
That There Were Three Drunken Men.

Concerning Peter Ryan's escapade, mentioned in yesterday's Republican, Friday's Connersville Examiner says: "Last night about 10:30 o'clock, at the C. H. & D. depot three fellows who claim to have hailed from near Rushville and who were well loaded with liquor, had full sway of things about them and created a great deal of excitement. Each one of the men, it is said had a revolver and the manner in which they were flourishing the young arsenal and making commands at the station had everybody side stepping behind posts and doors to keep from being in front of the muzzle of the guns. The fellows were right boisterous along with their bravery, flashing the artillery and for a while they had things about their own way. The police were notified but before they arrived the three men had boarded a west bound freight and "skidded" out of town. The conductor of the freight train also had a very unpleasant experience with them on the road especially at Satlers switch west of town where they cut loose with the guns and began firing through the caboose. Word was sent by the railroad officials to the police at Rushville and it was heard here today that one of them was arrested there, but the other two got away. One of the men was said to be named McCombs, of near Glenwood but the names of the other two were not learned."

The program is good, and the two evening lectures by Dr. C. N. Sims, of Liberty, and Dr. Joshua Stansfield, of Indianapolis, will attract large audiences. Both are giants of Methodism and orators of repute. The railroads have granted a one and one-third fare on all roads in the district.

Reunion.

John A. Spurrier, W. L. King, T. J. Humes, W. S. Smith, Oliver Norris and J. A. Williams, executive committee of the Diapason Singing Class, met this afternoon in the office of Sheriff King and made the necessary preliminary arrangements for the annual reunion to be held in this city Sunday, June 17th. The society will probably meet in one of the churches. It now has a membership of 119.

The Knightstown Banner says: "As the outgrowth of idle gossip, which is the root of considerable evil these days, Mary E. Cox, of Dunreith, has brought suit for slander against Mary Saul, also of Dunreith, demanding $500. The first Mary alleges that the second Mary said some unkind things about her which injured her reputation, good standing and unsullied name. The case will come up before the present term of the Henry circuit court."

CAN BE CURED

Dr. Hurty and Other Notable
Physicians Advise "White Plague" Victims.

At one session of the Indiana State Medical Society at Winona the topic of discussion was tuberculosis in all its aspects. While much of the talk was extremely technical all those who addressed the meeting agreed that the "White Plague," is one of the most curable diseases if treated in a natural manner. Open air, plenty of sunshine and nourishing food, with frequent and thorough baths, formed the only item in the treatment suggested by most of the medical men. The proper diagnosis of consumption was much discussed. Dr. Hurty's remarks were enjoyed by those who would be prevailed on to stay indoors and hear them. He advised all consumptives to stay in Indiana and give nature a chance.

MAY TRAVEL WITH "UNCLE JOE" CANNON

Congressman Watson, Invited to Make Speaking Tour—Not a Candidate For Governor.

A Washington despatch says that Speaker Cannon has asked Representative "Jim" Watson of Indiana to tour the country with him this year. The speaker is going to put his shoulder to the wheel in the very best effort he can make to help elect a Republican House of Representatives. He will travel a great deal and speak in many close districts. He wants Mr. Watson to go along as his traveling companion and alternate with him in addressing the multitudes. In the congressional campaign two years ago Watson made a tour with the speaker and the latter unhesitatingly pronounced him the best campaigner in the country.

Friends of Representative Watson are trying to induce him to make the race for the Republican nomination for Governor of Indiana. It is known that he is not inclined to entertain the suggestion. He is making good progress in Congress, being a member of the Ways and Means Committee, whip of the House and prospective speakership timber. He would hardly feel justified in foregoing his congressional prospects to enter into a contest for Governor.

GOES LONG DISTANCE TO BE MARRIED

Miss Myrtle Hoore, of Liberty township Shelby county, was married Thursday to Mr. L. Wolf, at Honolulu, Hawaiian Islands, May 19th. Miss Moore began her trip, which resulted in this happy culmination. Arriving at San Francisco on May 25, she sailed by a Pacific mail steamer to the Islands and immediately upon landing was married.

DAVID GOFF IS SENT TO PRISON

Former Rushville Man Convicted of Attempted Criminal Assault.

Trial at Frankfort Is Ended—
The Jury Out About Four Hours.

David Goff, who was formerly employed at the old Oyster Bay restaurant, when it was owned by George Crim and who went from this city to Frankfort, was convicted of an attempted criminal assault on a young girl, by a jury in that city, Thursday evening. He will be sent to the Jeffersonville Reformatory for a period of two to fourteen years.

Goff's trial began Monday morning. The evidence was overwhelmingly against Goff, the most important evidence being that his shoes fit the tracks in the alley where the attempted assault occurred and the knees of his trousers and other parts of the clothing were stained with the ashes, that covered a portion of the alley. The victim of the alleged attempt positively identified Goff as the guilty party. Goff was unable to prove an alibi. The arguments in the case were made Thursday and the jury took the case Thursday evening at 4 o'clock returning a verdict at 7:45. The jurors had little trouble in reaching an agreement. Concerning the scene in the court room when the jury came in the Frankfort Times says:

"The defendant did not come into court until 8:30 his tardy arrival gave rise to the report that he had gone. These reports however, were groundless, as he leisurely walked into the court room and took his position with his wife and children. The court room was packed almost to suffocation when the jury filed in and took their seats. Goff was a little paler than usual, as the foreman handed the verdict to Court Clerk Bolt. When the clerk read, 'We the jury, find the defendant guilty as charged in the indictment,' there was no demonstration by anyone in the room. Judge Claybaugh had warned the crowd that silence must be maintained and his order was obeyed.

Attorney A. H. Boulden asked, and was granted permission to poll the jury. Each of the twelve men said that the verdict was his verdict. Mr. Boulden then asked that the defendant be allowed to go on bond until a motion for a new trial can be argued, but Prosecutor Moss objected to that being done and demanded that Goff be remanded into custody of the sheriff. Judge Claybaugh issued orders to this effect and Goff was taken to the jail.

IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION

Incorporation Papers Forwarded to the Auditor of the State.

The directors of the Rushville Improvement Association met yesterday afternoon at the Rush County National Bank. The incorporation papers, recently drawn by attorney Claude Cambern, were forwarded to the Auditor of State. For the past two or three weeks the soliciting committee has been quietly at work and has met with success. The association will be ready for business in a short time. A committee will collect the subscriptions next week.

In the mythology of Europe horses have always been considered bearers of luck, and there was a superstition which once was current that the presence of a horse's hoof under the bed would cure certain complaints.

THOUSANDS OF SOLDIERS

Will Gather at Fort Benjamin Harrison in August.

Indianapolis, Ind., June 2.—The annual camp of instruction of the Indiana national guard will be held at Fort Benjamin Harrison during the ten days beginning Aug. 12. The national guard of several states will be in camp here with the regulars during August and September. The troops from Michigan will be the first to arrive. They have been assigned the week beginning Aug. 5. The Indiana troops will follow them. The state will pay for three days' service and the national government seven.

Chairman O'Brien returned from Lawrenceburg today and will remain until the Democratic state convention next Wednesday. There will be a meeting of the committee on arrangements for the convention tonight. It consists of M. A. Ryan of this city, who was chairman of the speakers' bureau two years ago; Peter J. Coyle of Peru, Eleventh district chairman, and J. K. Risk of Lafayette, Tenth district chairman. The usual plan for seating the delegates and for decorating will be followed. A very large crowd is expected. "Stokes" Jackson, a well-known Greenfield politician, has requested the committee for 500 tickets for the Hancock county delegation. It is believed that there will be between four and five thousand people here for the convention.

Chairman J. A. M. Adair has issued a call for a meeting of the Eighth district Democratic committee at Muncie to arrange for the congressional convention. It will probably be held at an early date. W. H. Elchhorn of Bluffton, Fred Caldwell of Winchester, Walter J. Lotz of Muncie, and several others are mentioned as probable candidates. No one seems to be seeking the place, although many party leaders predicted recently that a Democrat would be elected in the Eighth on account of the fight between the Cromer and Stillwell factions. The Sixth district Democratic congressional convention was held at Greenfield today. Rev. T. H. Kuhn of Richmond, the only candidate, was nominated.

State Factory Inspector McAbee has issued a circular letter to the bakers of Indiana calling their attention to a state law compelling them to keep their bake-shops in a clean, sanitary condition. The law was enacted and approved in 1901, and a great improvement was made in the condition of the bakeries, but lately many bakers have grown lax and in some places the old-time conditions exist. McAbee has not written the bakers demanding that they comply with the law, but has instructed his deputies to make a thorough inspection and cause arrests of neglectful parties.

The attack of William Randolph Hearst on National Chairman Taggart has aroused much interest among politicians here, many of whom believe there is considerable spite-work behind it. They think that Hearst is trying to get even with Taggart for the part he took in lining up the Indiana delegation against him in 1904. Many anticipate that there will be another fight by Hearst to land the Indiana delegation and that he is trying now to belittle Taggart as much as possible in this state.

A Blaze in the Subway.
 New York, June 2.—By a collision in the subway last night between trains of empty cars, a short circuit was caused which resulted in the burning of four cars, a panic in a train crowded with passengers and the suspension of traffic from Ninety-third street to the Kings bridge terminus, for several hours. A northbound passenger train ran the gauntlet of flaming cars and reached the 110th street station, where the passengers, panic-stricken in the darkness and smoke, had difficulty in reaching the street. Several women fainted, but all escaped unhurt.

 Washington, June 2.—General Vicente Gomez is trying to induce President Castro to resume charge of the Venezuelan government and is threatening to call congress together and accept Castro's resignation at once if he persists in declining to reassume the presidency.

The Gloomy Mr. Morgan.
 Washington, June 2.—Senator Morgan called up his resolution providing for the investigation of conditions in the Isle of Pines, taking the position that the island is United States territory, and urging that if the question is not properly settled the result will be serious.

Failure Is Admitted.
 Columbus, O., June 2.—Vice President Lewis at the meeting of the Ohio miners' convention made a statement in which he declared in effect, while mentioning no names, that the miners' officials have been unsuccessful in their negotiations for better conditions and wages.

 Jefferson City, Mo., June 2.—The supreme court en banc has affirmed the decision in the case of "Lord" F. Seymour Barrington, condemned to death for the murder of James P. McCann, and fixed the date of execution for July 26.

HE FIXED FOR IT

Suicide of Congressman Adams Was Not an Emotional Act.

CAREFULLY PLANNED

The Unhappy Pennsylvania Representative Prepared For Death With a Smile on His Lips.

He Timed the Act So as Not to Interfere With Important Legislation.

Washington, June 2.—Representative Robert Adams of the Second congressional district of Pennsylvania, died at Emergency hospital in this city as the result of a pistol shot fired through his mouth into his head with suicidal intent. The act was committed at the club chambers of the Metropolitan club, where Mr. Adams had lived for several years.

Mr. Adams was a society and club man and was at all prominent social functions in this city. It was only Thursday that he, as acting chairman of the house committee on foreign affairs, managed the diplomatic and consular appropriation bill to its final passage in the house. This bill was before the house for the last week, and Mr. Adams was the principal figure in the house. There was nothing in his department during the consideration of the measure to indicate an unusual condition of his mind. Representative Sulzer of New York who has taken an active part on the floor of the house during the deliberation on the diplomatic and consular appropriation bill said that Representative Adams came to him Thursday and asked that no hindrance be placed in the way of getting the bill through on that day.

"I have something very important to do," remarked Mr. Adams, "and want to get this bill through and get away."

"All I want is enough time to make a short speech on the General Slocum disaster," replied Mr. Sulzer.

"Well," responded Mr. Adams, "my matter is more important than the General Slocum disaster."

"Perhaps so," replied Mr. Sulzer, "as those people are now all dead."

"Well," concluded Mr. Adams, "there may be more of us dead before tomorrow morning."

Mr. Adams wrote the following letter to Speaker Cannon. It was received at the capitol just before the hour of convening the house:

"My Dear Mr. Speaker—The fact that my personal obligations exceed my resources is my only excuse for abandoning the responsible position I occupy in the house. I am willing to be buried at its expense, but I ask that no committee be appointed or memorial services held, as I have never been in sympathy with the latter custom."

"With assurances of my high regard, sincerely yours,

"ROBERT ADAMS."

On the announcement of the death of Mr. Adams, the house adjourned.

A LONG DISCUSSION

Is Before Russian Parliament on Agrarian Problem.

St. Petersburg, June 2.—Parliament's disposal of the agrarian problem, according to indications in the debate in the lower house, will be a long and tedious process. The discussion has reached only the preliminary stage, but one-third of the house has announced a desire to participate. At the rate of present progress this will occupy ten days. Deliberations in committee will be followed by another open debate, after which the measure will pass to the council of the empire. It is extremely doubtful whether action will be possible before the summer recess is reached.

FIERCE MEXICAN RIOTS

The W. C. Greene Mines the Scene of Bloody Race War.

Bisbee, Ariz., June 2.—News has reached here from Cananea, Mex., of a bloody race war at that place. The town is on fire and streets are strewn with dead and wounded. The Arizona rangers and a large posse of citizens of Bisbee have just left here for Cananea. At last accounts the fighting was still in progress.

Naco, Ariz., June 2.—Forty-five Americans were killed at Cananea, forty miles south of here, where is located the great copper camp of Col. W. C. Greene. The camp is on fire, and it is reported that the Mexicans are defying all authority. They are reported to be using dynamite in blowing up the great smelters and mills owned by the Greene company.

El Paso, Tex., June 2.—A report is in circulation that all the Mexicans employed at W. C. Greene's mines in Mexico are on strike and that forty have been killed in a riot. The report says that Governor Ysabel of Sonora is en route to the scene with troops and that a request has been made by him for United States troops for Fort Huachuca, Ariz. Greene has left and is in Naco, Ariz., now.

NOT ENTITLED TO SEAT

This Is the Opinion of Senate Committee Regarding Smoot.

Washington, June 2.—That Reed Smoot is not entitled to his seat in the United States senate as a senator from Utah, was the decision of the senate committee on privileges and elections, declared by a vote of 7 to 5. The decision was on Senator Dubois's resolution which was carried by Senators Burrows, Dooliver, Pettus, Overman, Bailey, Dubois and Frazier voting in the affirmative, and Senators Foraker, Dillingham, Hopkins, Beveridge and Knox in the negative. The vote of Senator Depew was not cast.

The effect of the resolution adopted will be to place squarely before the senate the question whether Senator Smoot shall continue in his seat and leave to that body the decision as to the method of procedure. A majority, it is said, can declare that it is the sense of the senate that Senator Smoot be excluded, and under the form of the resolution proceed to unseat him by that method.

Senator Bailey has introduced a resolution in the committee on privileges and elections for the expulsion of Senator Joseph R. Burton of Kansas. Action on the resolution went over until next Tuesday.

AFTER BRIDGE TRUST

Successful In Driving the Ohio Company on the Rocks He Gets After Indiana Companies.

Claims to Have Conclusive Evidence That the Latter Have Participated in Trust Pools.

Columbus, O., June 2.—Wade H. Ellis, attorney general of Ohio, who has driven the bridge trust on the rocks in this state, has issued orders to Assistant Attorney General Harrison to bring action against the Indiana bridge companies that have been parties to the pools in this state. Harrison will first proceed against the Indiana Bridge company at Muncie, and will probably institute the proceedings in the federal court.

Ellis claims to have conclusive evidence that the Indiana Bridge company of Muncie; the Newcastle Bridge company of Indianapolis; the Attica Bridge company of Attica, and some other Indiana concerns have participated in the trust pools by which Ohio county treasuries have been looted and county officials have been corrupted.

BREWERS' CONVENTION

Will Meet at Indianapolis for a Two Days' Session.

Indianapolis, June 2.—The forty-third annual meeting of the United States Brewers' association will be held in this city June 6 and 7. It is expected that 450 delegates will be present from every state from Massachusetts on the East—there are no breweries in Maine—to the Pacific coast, and from the Canadian line to Texas. The delegates will, perhaps, represent more millions of dollars than any body of men that ever assembled in this city. In capital invested this industry takes fifth rank in the industries of the country, being preceded by lumber, iron and steel, manufactured gas and cotton. The brewing interests represent $450,000,000 of capital with a product valued at about $240,000,000. In 1900 this industry used thirty million dollars' worth of cereals. It pays annually $26,000,000 in wages; $50,000,000 in internal revenue to the government annually and a large amount in state and municipal taxes.

The brewers, pointing to the increase in their output, show that in 1870 6,000,000 barrels of beer were brewed; the present year about 50,000,000 barrels. One object of the meeting, it is said, will be to set forth that the general increase in the consumption of beer is in the interest of true temperance, the milder beverage driving out the use of strong liquor. The brewers will also express themselves on the pure food law, this being the only body manufacturing food products that has taken the stand of supporting the government in bringing about needed reforms.

Another Postoffice Robbed.

Vevay, Ind., June 2.—A. T. Walters, retail grocer and postmaster at Long Run, lost $2,500 by the burning of his store and contents, the result of incendiaryism. There is $1,500 insurance. Mr. Walters had retired for the night when he was aroused by the glare of the flames, only to find the interior of his store ablaze. It is the supposition that thieves broke into the postoffice department and applied the torch to conceal the crime. Only 700 pennies, the few postal cards and a small amount of postage stamps was lost, the money having been carried home.

Death Due to an Overdose.

Kokomo, Ind., June 2.—T. E. Hillock of Ekin, was removed from his buggy in a dying condition at Russellville, and his death followed after his removal into the office of a physician. An empty bottle labeled "morphine" was found in the buggy. Acquaintances of the man say that he was an habitual user of the drug, and they believe that his death was caused by an overdose. Elmer Parkinson, who was riding with Hillock, and who had been dissipating with him, is held by the authorities, pending investigation.

Fatal Accident in Factory.

Kokomo, Ind., June 2.—Frank Wyman, machinist, employed in the Apperson automobile factory, was fatally scalded, the head of a water heater blowing out and deluging him with steam and hot water. He is twenty-five years old. Will Wyman, engineer in same plant, was also severely scalded while rescuing his brother.

Boy's Narrow Escape.

Logansport, Ind., June 2.—Earl Jones, near Anoka, attempted to drive across the Pennsylvania tracks, and his horse was struck by a train and killed outright, while the lad was left in his seat unhurt. The vehicle was not overturned, and the only damage it sustained was two broken shafts.

RUSHVILLE REMINISCENCES

By Judge J. E. Eden.

Editor Rushville Republican:

If Uncle Peter Looney had ten barrels of cider in Rushville in 1840, I certainly got some of it.

Mr. Peter Manzy had to admit that he was wrong in reference to the carrying of banners in 1840. He is just as far off his base in all of his statements as to what occurred in 1840. He lived in Union township in those early days and seldom came to Rushville.

Mr. Manzy says the big canoe was made in Fayette county, and he followed it and a band from Connersville. There never was a buckeye canoe and band that came from Fayette county to Rushville. Mr. Manzy thinks I must have been tapping the cider barrels. He says he only saw the empty barrels. He spent some time in explaining how they voted and how elections were held in 1840. Now, if he will take a drink of cider, put on his glasses and examine what I said he will find I made no reference to how elections were held in 1840. I could give him pointers as to how elections were held there as I was one of the clerks of the election in 1840.

In referring to Joe Robinson's anecdote of tap it at both ends, Mr. Carr corroborates my statement that in the early days everybody in the county went to the court house to vote. Now for an explanation personal to myself I will show that I don't have to depend on what others tell me. In 1838 I cast my first vote. I was only 18 years old. That needs an explanation.

I was six feet one inch tall and weighed 185 pounds. One of the popular amusements of that day was to run and go three jumps or rather three hops. I could run 44 feet. There were but few persons that could reach that mark. That kind of amusement has played out now. But I started out to explain why I voted when I was only 18 years old. At the April election they elected an inspector of election for each township; they chose two clerks and two judges to hold the election—one Whig and one Democrat clerk and one Whig and one Democrat judge. Benjamin Bebout (Mrs. J. Q. Thomas' grandfather), our nearest neighbor, who had known me ever since I was a boy, was inspector of elections for several years. He was a Whig, and as honest a man as ever lived. He was a leader and strict member of the Baptist church. He was a well-to-do farmer and carpenter. His home was one of the best in the county—a double house, two stories high with a well. It was headquarters for Baptist preachers. I have heard three of them preach in one night.

At the August election in 1838, there was a fierce political contest. Jesse Carmichael and myself were out upon the streets looking for voters. Mr. Carmichael was a few years older than I, but we often met in political contests. He told his friends that he would rather meet any one on the streets than me. When I walked up to the window and offered to vote, I had no more idea of voting than I have now, but my vote was taken. No person objected.

Again in 1839, Jesse and myself were active street workers, and no person objected to me voting. In 1839 the legislature passed a stringent law against illegal voting.

In 1840 I was one of the clerks of the election. When the older members of the election board were voting, they asked me to vote. I said I wasn't ready yet, and it was soon forgotten.

Gordon Howlin, of Windsor, Ill., who lived in Rush county from 1827 to the sixties, says the Buckeye canoe was made in Richland township. Augustus Miller, who lived in that township, says it was made there, and at the appointed time there was a large crowd collected and followed it through New Salem to Rushville. That he and his brother on horse-back met the crowd and followed the large procession to Rushville. He even gives the man's name that drove the team to Rushville. He says the barbecue was held in the court house yard. That I think ought to settle that question.

The barbecue that Granville Cowing refers to, was the temperance barbecue that was held in 1841 or 1842, when Joe Robinson said they tapped it at both ends.

In the winter of 1839 I spent six weeks working for Hog Walker gathering up and weighing and driving hogs to Cincinnati. He lived on the Brookville road, about four miles from Rushville. For the benefit of the young people, I will describe the way the weighing was done in that day. We used the old-style heavy breeching then in use. One man at the boom pole, one at the steelyard, one at the breeching (that was my job), two men got the elm peelers ready for the breeching. Then the word was given, "hog up." When the man at the steelyard was ready, the word was given, "hog down." Then it took quick work to keep the breeching and hog from all going together. The price for that work was still 37½ cents per day.

In the winter of 1841, Job Pugh gave me a certificate as a young man of good, moral character and qualified to teach school. My first winter in the school house, it kept me busy the long winter nights with the studies, to keep ahead of the classes. In the early days in Rush county the country teachers were usually Irishmen. Their only qualification was to be able to use a beach brush. I taught the first school in the country that was taught without a switch in the house.

I will refer to some of the ways that country people spent their time in the long winter nights in the early days. We had spelling schools of nights and those that didn't spell went to hear those that did spell. I once had a spelling school at the Vernon schoolhouse near the Landy Gardner farm. The sleighing was fine and the house was full of people. Two captains divided the spellers and one from each side took the floor until a word was missed, and so on, until one side or the other was all down. For two hours you could hear a pin drop on the floor.

In our country schoolhouse debates, the whole neighborhood turned out, those that didn't take part in the debates went to hear those that did. Before George C. Clark went to Rushville, I often met him in our school house debates. His parents were Quakers and lived Northwest of Manilla in the little Blue River country. George Mull, an uncle of Fred Mull's that lives in Circleville, was the strongest man in a debate that I ever met in a country schoolhouse.

In the winter of 1846 in Burlington (now Arlington) I taught J. K. Gowdy his letters, his mother taught him his politics. She was a daughter of Father Havens and her talents came by inheritance. Had she lived in this day her influence in social circles and in the club room would be heard.

The late Dr. Ricker, of Arlington was one of my pupils. His father was one of the prominent physicians of that day.

The Gowdy's moved to Rennselaer, Jasper county. The people of Jasper county sent Mr. Gowdy to the Legislature several terms.

Indiana has always been noted for their excellent political campaigns. Probably the campaign of 1844 was the most exciting and bitterly contested campaign ever held in the State. Each party tried to excel the other in the way of parades.

In the big rally of 1844, a large procession came in from the east. There were twenty-five or thirty platform wagons, representing all of the industries of that day such as looms with women weaving, old-fashioned spinning with ladies at work, old style flaxbreakers, blacksmiths showing horses, tailors at work. In fact, every device you can think of was represented. At the head of this procession was a large wagon drawn by six fine horses, the wagon contained twenty-six young ladies carrying banners that said on them "Whig husband or none."

Some of the older citizens will remember Eliza Lindsey, Mary Frame, Sally Ann Hilligoss, Margaret Tingly. The ages of the four ladies I mention were bordering close on to the thirties. Miss Tingly afterwards married an old bachelor and a democrat.

In 1844 Uncle Jacky Megee didn't have to call "Democrats to your horses," they were already in the saddle. In the way of a turnout they had the best equipped hickory wagon that was on the road that year, with twenty-six young ladies carrying flags representing the twenty-six States. That fine outfit was drawn by six white horses with a uniformed rider on each horse. That turnout met and escorted more than 800 Democrats from Shelbyville into Rushville. The principal speaker for that day was John B. Weller, of Ohio. He could say more bitter things of his political opponents than any man I ever heard talk.

The Democrats, with their fine outfit and a large procession went to Shelbyville. Thomas A. Hendricks met the procession in the Blue River bottom and welcomed them to the city. That was the largest gathering held in the State. That year people had gathered from forty to fifty miles from all directions. There wasn't a railroad in the State then. There was a three-story hickory wagon hauled by thirty-five yoke of oxen with seventy-five men on it.

William J. Brown (an early citizen of Rushville), then in the prime of life spoke to acres of people. Henry Clay had been in public life so long that Brown held up his record before the people.

A three story hickory wagon, drawn by thirty-five yoke of oxen and hauling seventy-five men, would cause more excitement in Rushville now than Barnum's show.

When I commenced these meanderings I did not intend to write my own history, nor the history of Rush county, but having taken active part in the affairs of Rushville and Rush county from 1840 to 1852, and knowing nearly every man in the country, and being personally acquainted with all the business and professional men in the county, when I get to speaking of these things I never know when to stop.

To refresh the minds of the young people, I will state that from 1840 to 1850 I had never seen a lady in the school room as a teacher, behind the counter as a sales lady, in a lawyer's office as a stenographer or typewriter, nor in a telephone office as a "hello-girl."

Jeff. Carr is mistaken. Henry Clay made his campaign in Indiana in 1848.

While the American millionaire semi-occasionally leaves his native land and become an English citizen, yet the course just taken by "Squire Tyrrel Rawdon of Rawdon Hall, Yorkshire, is so unusual a contradiction to the regular run of such cases as to arouse a thrill of interest throughout the United States. Rawdon, it will be remembered, came penniless to this country some years ago, went West, and, after a hard fight for luck, became owner of a rich silver mine. He married beautiful Ethel Rawdon, daughter of Judge Rawdon, of New York, a distant cousin, and together they returned to Rawdon Hall, where they revived all the old splendors of that famous country seat.

Now, however, comes the news that Rawdon has disposed of his $150,000 estate in England and is coming back, with his wife, to America, to settle down in New York for life. The reason he advances is that, after the free life of America, England is too small for him, and that he can feel truly at ease nowhere outside of Uncle Sam's territory.

New York friends, however, hint at a more serious and dramatic course for the exodus. The reason these friends assign is connected with the mysterious Stanhope case, which involved the foremost members of Gotham's Smart Set.

This case is set forth in graphic detail in "The Man Between," Amelia E. Barr's masterpiece, which is destined to shake the clerical and fashionable world to its foundations.

We Would Like Mightily Well to Marry Your Wife

To Our Shoes

Wives are better buyers than husbands, (except in your case of course) and for that very reason we know that the surest way for us to get the Shoe business of YOUR WHOLE FAMILY is to sell a pair of Shoes to YOUR WIFE.

The kind of shoes we sell practically cut your shoe bill IN HALF.

Casady & Cox,

Rushville, Ind.

You will surprise yourself most of all if you have never bought any Clothes of us to see how well we can please you. Why go around wearing a coat that makes you look like a coffee sack full of corn cobs when you can come to a place where they carry clothes that fit? Why take chances on getting a suit made of cloth that may be half or more cotton, when you know you can come to a reliable store and get clothes that are all wool. Are you a judge of cloth? If not then you must depend upon the reputation of the store where you buy. Ask our patrons whether or not we have treated them well. If you can't get a whole prize then get part of a prize by buying the things you wear at a place that seeks only to make a reasonable profit.
